

Position : Field Service Engineer
Business Group : Honeywell Process Solutions
Reporting To : Field Service Manager, Korea

Primary Objectives

- To identify potential engineering expert/candidates in advance
- To promote corporate image while achieving hiring of proven resources
- To build young generation resources pipelines for future business growth
- Provide on the job training and actual engineering activities;
 - Follows instructions and applies Honeywell policies and procedures to resolve routine issues
 - Exercises judgment within defined procedures and policies to determine appropriate action
 - Works on issues where analysis of situation or data requires review of relevant factors

Key Responsibilities

- Execute Test and Commissioning work assignments according to assigned projects
- Share technical knowledge with other people
- Report project progress and technical problems to project manager or leader
- Conduct efficiency improvements within assigned work
- Comply with all Engineering Processes, tools and methodologies
- Make on-site technical training and handover for the customers
- Make PM service for installed base site
- Make emergency service for troubled site

Key Qualifications

- Bachelor degree or above engineering major in Electrics, Electrical, Mechanical, Computer Science or equivalent
- Good communication skill
- Fluent English skill in both speaking and writing
- Strong self-learning and motivation & team player
- Able to have frequent business travels